MANY SPEECHES

Expected on the Rate Bill This Week. Other Work Pressing Congress.

Washington, Feb. 4.-Although the end of the general debate on the railroad regulation in the house of representatives is not in sight, it is the opinion of the leaders that a vote may be taken upon it by the middie of the coming week. There is no limit to debate. As long as any member wishes to be heard there will be no objection to make the measure the He Breaks President's Civil Service continuing order. There are half a dozen important speeches scheduled among the number being Chairman Hepburn of the committee which reported the bill. No amendments will be permitted.

Appropriation bills will be taken up effort will be made to have a time fixed for taking a vote upon it. Some statehood bill taken up.

It is expected during the week to have discussion in open and closed session on the administration's foreign policy.
